the consultative group on international agricultural research CGIAR was established in 1971 to support the Rockefeller and Ford foundations in funding four international agricultural research centres in Colombia, Mexico, Nigeria and the Philippines as the first global programme to receive grants from the World Bank's net income. The CGIAR now consists of 16 autonomous international centres with a membership of 62 countries including 24 developing and transition economies. This report evaluates the work of CGIAR and makes several recommendations to address the future challenges it faces in promoting agricultural research.

Argentina lies at the heart of the American hemisphere's history of global migration booms of the mid-nineteenth to early twentieth century. By 1910, one of every three Argentine residents was an immigrant. Twice the demographic impact that the United States experienced in the boom period, in this context, some one hundred and forty thousand Ottoman Syrians came to Argentina prior to World War I, and over the following decades, Middle Eastern communities, institutions and businesses dotted the landscape of Argentina, from bustling Buenos Aires to Argentina's most remote frontiers. Argentina in the Global Middle East connects modern Latin American and Middle Eastern history through their shared links to global migration systems. By following the mobile lives of individuals with roots in the Levantine Middle East, Lily Pearl Balloffet sheds light on the intersections of ethnicity, migrant homeland ties and international relations ranging from the nineteenth century boom in transoceanic migration to twenty-first century dynamics of large-scale migration and displacement in the Arabic-speaking Eastern Mediterranean. This book considers key themes such as cultural production, philanthropy, anti-imperial activism and financial networks over the course of several generations of this diasporic community. Balloffet's study situates this transregional history of Argentina and the Middle East within a larger story of south-south alliances, solidarities and exchanges.

Global Latin O Americanos addresses and reframes a central issue of our time: the challenge of incorporating immigrants into Western societies and economies, which too often frame immigrants as the problem. How Latino immigrants respond and exercise agency under familiar and unfamiliar global conditions is of critical importance on several fronts, including the health of democratic societies and the diverse expressions of citizenship across the Latino diaspora. Building on the scholarship of new migratory destinations of people from Latin America and the Caribbean, Global Latin O Americanos moves toward studies of diasporic citizenship. This shift not only de-centers U.S. dominant interpretations but also places less emphasis on the nation-state and its economic systems as units of analysis. The book includes work by leading scholars of migration in Latin America, Asia, Europe and the United States. It examines a wide range of intraregional and transoceanic migratory flows and addresses critical themes from several disciplinary perspectives.

the proportion of the world's urban population is expected to increase to about 57 by 2050 and the share of Africa's urban population is projected to increase to 60 by the same year as a result of this phenomenal growth in urban population urbanization and urban poverty have begun to dominate the development discourse again after years of focusing on rural development housing is a crucial issue for the urban poor who often lack land to build their own houses or access to financing that would allow them to purchase or build homes and are frequently concentrated in informal settlements with insufficient access to infrastructure health and education services furthermore housing provision has largely fallen to central governments and policy has largely overlooked the capacity of the urban poor as individuals and communities to provide housing for themselves this book engages these challenges and assumptions offering insight into political economic environmental and financial frameworks that can help facilitate adequate housing options drawing on examples from case studies across sub-Saharan Africa these contributions center the urban poor in initiatives to develop housing infrastructure offering lessons for researchers and governments looking to address an ever escalating housing crisis
