the nonprofit sector in america consists of some 1.5 million tax exempt organizations ranging in size from storefront human services agencies and one room churches to giant universities and medical centers the sector accounts for about seven percent of national income employs some 10 million workers and uses the services of about 90 million volunteers this book originated at a conference sponsored by the american assembly and the indiana center on philanthropy leading scholars and practitioners consider three key clusters of issues what forces will determine the shape and activities of philanthropy and the nonprofit sector in the next decade how will philanthropy and the nonprofit sector be strengthened or weakened by those forces how can the challenges of grappling with the forces be transformed into opportunities the focus is on a variety of pressures the devolution of federal programs to the state and local levels the blurring of lines between nonprofit and for profit organizations changing distributions of income major new wealth and its concentration a revived interest in community and civil society the evolution of religion and religious institutions globalization and other regulatory reform a retreat of government from tax various policy areas and the rise of privatization and market models

a chance encounter diverted abdolreza ansari from completing his phd in the us and set him on a professional journey which mirrored the prolific rise and the precipitous fall of the regime of shah mohammad reza pahlavi of iran ansari s government career took off when he became iran s treasurer general at the age of 32 in this role he restructured the fiscal management of the country and revamped its social security system he was appointed minister of labor and social affairs at 34 where he created the workers welfare bank to support the labour force of the country as Iran was about to enter a period of rapid development. Ansari was called upon to take charge of the largest development project of the time: the construction of the Dez Dam in the oil-rich province of Khuzestan. Subsequently, Ansari was appointed Minister of Interior, where he conducted national parliamentary and city council elections in a single day for the first time in Iran's history. His plan for the urban rehabilitation of towns and population centres continues to be the basis for municipal governance to this day. Ansari's political career was derailed following a cabinet reshuffle; however, he was hand-picked by the Shah to manage the many charitable organizations headed by the monarch's twin sister, Princess Ashraf Pahlavi. When the Iranian government began preparations for the commemoration of Iran's 2500 years of continued monarchical rule, he was appointed deputy head of the celebration's organizing committee. Prior to the 1979 revolution, he initiated, introduced, and implemented the programmes of protection of families and the national movement for philanthropy. Ansari's proximity to the Iranian royal court, including the Shah and Princess Ashraf, and his encounters with a multitude of well-known personalities make these conversations a unique and valuable historical source for the pre-revolutionary period in Iran.
